A total of 20 percent each of the personnel came from Saxony-Anhelt, Saxony, Mecklenburg and Brandenburg, while 10 percent each came from Thuringis and Berlin. About 15 percent followed the SED line, 50 percent were indifferent, while 35 percent were secret opponents of the regime. The morale of the soldiers was rather poor; they resented their poor food, the behaviour of their officers, their political brain washing and excessive duty hours. No Soviet advisor was attached to the unit.

6. In December 1953, almost exclusively driving school on motorcycles was conducted. In mid-December, an elect was given at 4 a.m. Subsequently the unit marched to Golm and then returned. The installation at Potsdam-Riche also quartered the signal battalion, bakery company, medical battalion and the tank repair shop of KVP Division Potsdam.

Comment. The Reconnaissance Battalion in Potsdam-Eiche is organized after the Soviet pattern. The unit had about 30 percent of its authorized strength. The Reconnaissance Battalion and the other component units of KVP Division Potsdam mentioned in the present report are stationed at the barracks installation in Golm.
